The Art of Effective Communication

Professional Communications

Today's Agenda

- 1 Introduction
 - 2 Tips For Effective Communication
 - 3 Question & Answer

Introduction

- How did I decide on my career?
- My Career Journey
- Intro To Writing

-5 Tips -

Are you ready?

Know Your Audience

The Art of Persuasion

Identify Your Target Audience

Know Their Age, Taste, Goals, Interests

Choose A Style Which Resonates

2 Make A Point.

Less is More when writing too.

Have A Clear Purpose

Start Strong Do's & Don't

2 Make A Point.

Dont's

- Use slangs/lingos
- Apostrophes

(haven't, might've, etc)

- Do not judge
- Long sentences/paragraphs
- Acronyms/unfamiliar terms

Do's

- Spell out numbers (1-9)
- Write in an active voice
- Coherent flow of thoughts/ideas
- Use constructive language

(it was slightly challenging vs this experienced stretched my skillset)

3 USP

Create Value

> Highlight Unique Strengths

Be Proficient in Skillset

Three Key Appeals

Ethos (Character)

Logos (Logic)

Present yourself as trustworthy & credible Use facts, statistics, concrete evidence/ examples, reason

Pathos (Emotion)

Create connection & Evoke emotion

Three Key Appeals

Ethos (Character)

Logos (Logic)

Pathos (Emotion)

The recession has forced some people to live with a smaller monthly budget resulting in many living on one meal a day (emotion). Spoiling children makes it difficult for them to endure hard times as it inhibits them from properly learning how to earn things on their own, making it harder for them to share things and interact with others (character).

[A news report, feature article, or some type of personal story that shares an incident in which a spoiled child was ungrateful to his/her parents and/or was disrespectful towards them.] (Logic)

Correct Your Work

Revise:

Alter & Amend

Edit:

Spelling & Grammar

Proof Read:

Final Look

Writing is a way to express yourself and showcase your personality. Do not get caught up with the little details that you miss the big picture – to make an impression & a point.

- In closing -

Thank you!

Q & A